PREAMBLE

The Centre of Sport Activities of Brno University of Technology (CESA BUT) was established by decision of rector 15/2000 based on proof of BUT Academic Senate 27. 9. 2009 building on a long tradition of sport education and activities of faculty sport departments on BUT.

The technical education in Brno which dates back to 1849, Brno University of Technology, the oldest technical university in Moravia, strives to broaden the knowledge, intellectual wealth and progress through its teaching and research activities. The teaching and creative activities at Brno University of Technology are fundamentally based on cultivation of critical thinking, sense of objectivity and adherence to high ethical standards. The students, academic staff and employees follow the principles of freedom and responsibility as the absolute values creating good relationships among people and healthy attitude to work and property, both within Brno University of Technology and with respect to partners. Brno University of Technology is part of a network of public higher education institutions claiming their place in the heart of European education. It supports international co-operation, openness and tolerance. It fulfils and defends the principles of equal opportunities and fairness at all levels of its conduct. Brno University of Technology treasures expertise and professionalism in all activities, comprehensive development of the students and employees, supporting their self-realisation and reducing the impact of external risks, including rampant bureaucracy. Brno University of Technology consists of faculties, university institutes and other component parts. Its goals for the future are fulfilled through a unified strategy, which the Faculties and component parts pursue and help achieve through their activities. Shared identity is developed through co-operation among the students as well as employees and further supported using a unified visual style. Since its establishment under the name Czech University of Technology in Brno in 1899, Brno University of Technology has overcome numerous obstacles that history has brought. It succeeded in maintaining and strengthening its reputation by putting a strong emphasis on the knowledge of its students and qualities of its teachers. Brno University of Technology considers it its obligation to future generations to defend its place among the best European universities in terms of teaching, as well as creativity, and fulfilling the societal role as a university. Brno University of Technology shall always side with rationality, prosperity and democracy, thus contributing to the wealth of the nation.
